The El Paso Police Department is hosting the annual training conference for the International Association for Law Enforcement Planners (IALEP). For the poster session, we are inviting researchers who study fields that may include criminal justice, psychology, sociology, legal studies, public policy, business administration, international affairs, and data analysis and statistics.

The objective of the poster session is to give researchers the opportunity to present early results and applications to a receptive audience of international law enforcement planners. In this mutually beneficial event, the presenters will be able to showcase their work, make contacts, and exchange ideas with those in the field. The conference attendees, both sworn and civilian personnel, will have the opportunity to learn about innovations in academia and potential impacts specific to law enforcement.

Contact Rebecca Abbott at 915.212.4372 or email PDPLANNINGRESEARCH@elpasotexas.gov for more information. Included with participation, the poster author or a representative will have the option of attending one day of the conference at an 80% reduced rate of $20.

Exceptional entries may be eligible to present their research in a session at the end of the conference to a larger group of industry professionals.

Submission Deadline June 27
